DOCUMENT 1 — COPYRIGHT PROTECTION & INFRINGEMENT POLICY

1. Purpose and scope

This policy explains ownership, permitted use, and protection of original materials created for or published through Let's Talk with Dr Lynn (the “Podcast”).

2. Ownership

The Podcast is identified by its owners as Faith Deliverance Crusade Ministries, Inc. (FDCM Ministries) and Apostle Dr. Linda Lanier, individually. Each owner retains their respective rights and interests in original Podcast materials, subject to applicable law, actual authorship, third-party rights, and any written ownership agreements.

3. Materials covered

• Original podcast audio and video recordings, episodes, livestreams, and edited productions.

• Original scripts, written commentary, articles, show notes, and teaching materials.

• Original promotional graphics, photographs, flyers, and videos created for the Podcast.

• Original logos, visual designs, and branding elements, to the extent protected by law.

4. Uses requiring permission

Unless permitted by law or by a license, prior written permission from the appropriate rights holder is required to reproduce, distribute, publicly display, publicly perform, adapt, sell, or commercially exploit protected Podcast materials. Examples include re-uploading episodes, using recordings in advertisements, or incorporating Podcast graphics into another production.

5. Sharing and excerpts

Sharing links to official Podcast pages and posts is encouraged. Downloading and re-uploading complete recordings is different from sharing an official link. Some limited uses may qualify for legal exceptions such as fair use; whether an exception applies depends on the circumstances. This policy does not remove rights or exceptions provided by law.

6. Third-party materials

Music, photographs, video clips, artwork, quotations, and other third-party materials must be used with permission, a license, or another lawful basis where required. Giving credit alone does not automatically provide permission.

7. Infringement reports and enforcement

A person who believes their copyrighted work has been used unlawfully may contact the owners with identification of the work, the location of the material, contact information, and a description of the concern. The owners may review reports and take appropriate steps, including contacting a platform, requesting removal, seeking resolution, or pursuing available legal remedies. A formal DMCA notice must meet U.S. legal requirements and should be sent to a properly designated agent if one has been registered.
